Every Drop Counts Mastering Leak Defense Systems

This Virtual Instructor-Led Training (VILT) session is designed to give you a practical, hands-on understanding of leak defense systems—focusing on how to operate, control, and optimize them using both the physical control panel and mobile app.

The session begins with a clear introduction to the system and its core components. You'll learn how the control panel functions, including key indicators, alarms, Wi-Fi connectivity, and how the system communicates through alerts and notifications. The instructor will walk through touchscreen navigation, display modes, and how to interpret system status at a glance.

From there, the training moves into a live, hands-on demonstration using the control panel. You'll explore menu options and learn how to adjust critical system settings such as trip rate, time-to-alarm, and active scene modes. You'll also see how to manually control valve position and override system behavior when needed. Real-world scenarios, including alarm conditions and system responses, will be demonstrated so you can understand how the system reacts under different conditions.

The session then transitions to the mobile experience, where you'll learn how to manage the system through a smartphone app. This includes changing valve positions remotely, adjusting system settings, activating scene modes, and setting up site scheduling. You'll see how remote access enhances control and allows for faster response times when it matters most.

By the end of this session, you'll be equipped to confidently operate a leak defense system, make real-time adjustments, and respond quickly to alerts—helping prevent water damage, reduce risk, and deliver smarter protection for your customers.
